Perhaps you sent a lovely card, or sat quietly in a chair, Perhaps you sent a floral piece, If so, we saw it there, Perhaps you spoke the kindest words, As any friend could say, Perhaps you were not there at all, Or, just thought of us that day, Whatever you did to console our hearts, We thank you so much, whatever the part.

Obituary

1951 Lloyd Alan “Sonny” Marshall 2021

Lloyd Alan “Sonny” Marshall, was born November 20, 1951, in Boston Massachusetts. He was the son of the late Lloyd Alan Marshall Sr., and Sarah (Rogers) Marshall. Sonny departed this life on March 18, 2021. Sonny grew up in Roxbury and Dorchester. He attended Boston public schools graduating from English High School. After high school Sonny attended a training program with Polaroid, and after graduating remained employed there for 20 years. He actually became an instructor in the same training program he graduated from, and he helped many young people to graduate from the program, and get jobs with Polaroid. Sonny also worked for 20 years at “Classic Graphx” in Cambridge Massachusetts, where he operated printing press machines.

Sonny grew up with two sisters, Lisa (Marshall) Adams and the late Denise (Marshall) Parham. He was the middle child between the two girls and gave them both a run for their money. He would tease Lisa, who was the youngest, so that she would run back in the house and he would not have to look after her outside. Sonny was a quiet, but very funny guy. He kept everyone laughing with his antics. He wrote his funeral wishes, and he wanted his last message to his family and friends to be, “After the ceremony everyone go out and get some fish sandwiches or oxtails!”

Sonny was a loving father to his children; daughter; Asha Alina Marshall, of California, and son; Kieran Lloyd Alan Marshall, and daughter-in-law Ursula of Florida.

Sonny was baptized on March 4, 2005, at Morning Star Baptist Church. Sonny is survived by his two children, his daughter-in-law, two granddaughters; Alina and Khinor, his sister; Lisa and brother-in-law Gary Adams, nieces; Leah and Sarah, nephews; Joey, Nate, and DJ, and a host of other relatives and numerous friends.
