

Romans 8:18-21

For I consider that the sufferings of the present time do not amount to anything in comparison with the glory that is going to be revealed in us. For the creation is waiting with eager expectation for the revealing of the sons of God. For the creation was subjected to futility, not by its own will, but through the one who subjected it, on the basis of hope that the creation itself will also be set free from enslavement to corruption and have the glorious freedom of the children of God.

Obituary

1967 Millette C. Richardson 2021

Millette C. Richardson, affectionately known as "Nini" was born to Wilfred and Norma Hay in Washington, DC on March 10th of 1967.

Shortly thereafter, her family moved to Brooklyn, NY where Millette grew up within the tight-knit Honduran community. She developed a small, tight circle of friends through the years: Danzelle, Jauquette, and Diane. In 1991, she married her childhood sweetheart. That union produced her only child; Maurice G. Richardson III, also in 1991.

Millette loved dancing and music. She loved House music, R&B, and Caribbean music, which she inherited from her childhood where the house was always filled with music! She had a love for cooking, and was an excellent cook. She never missed Law & Order, and was a crime show and court show fan. She battled Sickle Cell Anemia from birth, and God provided her the strength. She was an avid reader of the Word and worked to live by it. She was empathetic and funny, and mostly a good listener. On July 26th of 2021, Millette departed this life.

She is preceded in death by her parents Wilfred and Norma Hay. She leaves to mourn, her son Maurice G Richardson III, brother Mark Valentine, sister Catina Hay, nephews Rasaan Miller and Rhamell Hay, nieces Heather Valentine, Valencia Valentine, and Cattina Miller, Goddaughters Daisy Williams and Adrienne Jones and a host of family and friends who will miss her and carry her memory forward. Rest now, as you are free!
